

Isabel Lizcano Sanz

PhD student at the Faculty of Sciences and Technology

ISABEL LIZCANO is a PhD student in the department of Analytical Chemistry and Food Technology at the University of Castilla-La Mancha (Spain) since January 2015. She received her degree in Chemistry at the University of Castilla-La Mancha in 2014. Until now, she has two years of experience in electrophoresis and chromatography techniques applied to the determination of compound used in the cancer treatment.